VIENNA IS PREPARING TO RESIST ATTACK BY RUSSIANS

ENORMOUS LOSSES MARK RETREAT OF AUSTRIAN FORCES

Resistance of Enemy Broken Says Official Statement of Russian War Office

PARIS, Sept. 7, 10:55 a. m.—A dispatch to the Havas Agency from Petrograd says that after the news of the fall of Lemberg became known in Vienna, more than 20,000 men were set at work with feverish haste on the fortifications of Vienna and many thousand others began fortifying the banks of the Danube.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 7.—The following announcement was given out today:
"The Austrian army corps between the river Vistula and the river Bug are retreating with enormous losses.
"The resistance of the enemy has been broken.
"There are evidences of the possibility of a famine in Austria."

SECOND ARMY DEFEATED
PARIS, Sept. 7, 3:38 p. m.—According to advices received here a second Austrian army operating in front of Krasnosodow, in the Lubin region, has suffered great losses and is now on the defensive. Some of the Austrians have been forced to retreat.

RUSSIANS IN CZERNOWITZ
PETROGRAD, Sept. 7, via London, 6:55 p. m.—A dispatch from Bucharest, coming by way of Odessa, announces the entry of Russian troops into Czernowitz.

An earlier dispatch from London reported that the Russians had entered Czernowitz unopposed. The city is the capital of Bukovina, Austro Hungary, and is 146 miles southeast of Lemberg.

SURROUND PRZEMSL
LONDON, Sept. 7, 10:55 a. m.—Official reports from Russia state that Russian troops are gradually surrounding Przemsyl, which will soon either surrender or be taken by assault.
Przemsyl is a strong fortress fifty miles west of Lemberg, and its fall would mean the loss by the Austrians of the last stronghold in Galicia. It would clear the way to an advance of the Russians westward towards the junction of their forces on the East Prussian frontier.

Czar on Offensive.

PARIS, Sept. 7, 2:20 p. m.—The Havas correspondent at Petrograd transmits the following announcement:

"The Russians adopted extensive offensive tactics September 4 along the entire Austrian line of battle. The enemy's center, located in the region of Krasnosodow, bore the Russian attack. The forty-fifth Austrian infantry was completely annihilated, and the commander, forty-four officers and 1,600 men were taken prisoners."

"The German division, which came to the aid of the Austrians, was attacked on the left bank of the Vistula."
"Russian troops have occupied the region around Stry and Russian cavalry is in possession of the Carpathian Heights."

"In Eastern Prussia only light skirmishes have been reported."

Abandon Lemberg.

THE HAGUE, Sept. 8, via London, Sept. 7, 4 a. m.—The Austrian legation last night issued the following statement:

"Reports from Russian sources that Lemberg, Galicia, has been taken by the Russians are entirely untrue. For possession of the city are untrue. In reality Lemberg, which was not fortified, was abandoned to the Russian troops without fighting for tactical and humane reasons."

General von Auffenberg, in a statement received at the legation, says he is following up his successes at Zamos and that General Dankowski continues his attack in the direction of Lublin. The legation also contradicts a dispatch of last Saturday, according to which two Czech regiments had mutinied, claiming that at the present time there are no Czech troops in Vienna whose garrisons are of Slavic origin from Bosnia and Croatia.

It also contradicts a report claiming that the Serbians had completely routed the Fourth, Eighth, Ninth and Thirtieth army corps. It is pointed out at the legation that these troops occupy a totally different position than that assigned them in the report.

Hussars Cut Up.

LONDON, Sept. 7, 4:23 a. m.—A Petrograd dispatch to the Daily Mail dated Sunday, says that the Russian Gazette reports that a squadron of Death's Head Hussars, of which the crown prince was commander during his stay at Danzig, was defeated and completely cut up near Rozozin, in Poland. Count Czolberg, the commander of the squadron, and all the other officers were among the fallen.

The sale of spirituous liquors has been prohibited for the duration of the war, according to a Petrograd dispatch to the Reuter Telegram company.

Day's War Developments

Apart from the announcement that the German forces have fallen back before the offensive tactics of the allies at Montmell-Le-Houdouin to Verdun, the most interesting report is contained in a dispatch to the London News from Boulogne in which the French commander, General Pau, is given as authority that the allies have won a victory at Precy-sur-Oise, in which the imperial guard under the crown prince of Germany is alleged to have been annihilated by a British force.

The British official bureau says that the plans of the commander-in-chief, General Joffre, are being steadily carried out and that the German forces to them.

Paris officially reports that the allies have advanced their left wing without energetic opposition by the Germans, and several engagements on the Oise river have favored the French and British.

The Russian army operating in Galicia is reported still to be driving back the Austrians.

The casualty list as a result of the blowing up of the British cruiser Pathfinder by a mine in the North Sea, comprises four men killed, thirteen wounded and 242 missing.

BRITIAN WOULD PUT U.S. INTO TRAP SAYS TURKISH MINISTER

Says Massacres Occurred Only Under Provocation; This Country He Adds, Has Its Lynchings

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Chargé d'affaires in connection with the attack on Turkey in connection with the information by Great Britain to the United States that she would welcome a presence of American war vessels in Turkish waters to protect Christians was merely a "vulgar trap" to get the United States "mixed in the European fray on the allies' side," a Russian Bey, Turkish ambassador, issued tonight the following statement:

"According to today's papers, Great Britain, following in the footsteps of France, has agitated before the eyes of the United States, the spectre of a massacre of Christians in Turkey and has made this gruesome picture of the immediate future, drawn with absolute disregard to truth, a pretext for requesting the United States to dispatch warships to Turkish ports."

"That there have been massacres in Turkey, cannot, unfortunately, deny; but the victims suffered at the hands of the Moslems not as Christians but as political agitators, engaged in undermining the Ottoman state, the while flaunting in the face of the government and dominant race the support of Russia, France and England."

"Under the same provocation what would Russia have done who has given the world the spectacle of not only but twenty programs against an innocent race; what France, who smoked to death in caves the Algerians fighting for the independence of their land, who later on rejoiced in that grand production, the Commune, what England, whose parliament of the rebels in the Indian mutiny was to blow them off guns?"

"And since a large number of American papers are siding with Great Britain and France in this affair, I will permit myself to say that I am convinced that the world will eventually in the United States and the memory of 'water cures' in the Philippines should make them chary of the Turkish government."

BRITISH AND FRENCH ASSUME OFFENSIVE IN GREAT BATTLE

Imperial Guard Under Crown Prince Frederick William Is Annihilated at Precy; Prince In Their Midst; Fate Is Unknown

LONDON, Sept. 7, 11:30 p. m.—Once more the Germans and the allied French and British armies have grappled in the great battle which has been fought with only too brief intermissions since August 23. The tide has turned for a time at least, and according to official telegrams, the British are on the offensive. On the east of Paris from Nanteuil-Houdouin, to Verdun.

The front is more than 100 miles long with the French on the outer edge of the crescent and the Germans occupying the interior line. It was a general action and the British troops were in the battle, brief though the announcement was, it has kindled high hopes in the British official mind.

CROWN PRINCE KILLED?

LONDON, Sept. 7, 10:17 p. m.—A Boulogne dispatch to The Evening News says a telegram has been received from General Pau, announcing a victory by the allied forces at Precy-sur-Oise. The imperial guard under Crown Prince Frederick William is reported to have been annihilated by the British force which opposed them.

A telegram has been received from General Pau announcing a victory by the allied forces under Field Marshal Sir John French, commanding the British and general d'Amade at Precy-sur-Oise, about twenty-five miles north of Paris.

"The allies were drawn across the northern line with the center at Precy. The English troops were on the left and the French on the right. The former had in front of them the imperial guard under Crown Prince Frederick William."

"On both wings, it is reported, the allies were successful. The German left was held by the French and retired to the north."

"The imperial guard, who were ordered to surrender, were annihilated by the British. It is reported that the crown prince was in their midst."

The British official bureau has received no confirmation of this message."

ALLIES ADVANCING

PARIS, Sept. 7, 11:29 p. m.—The following official communication was issued here tonight:

"First—The allies have advanced their left wing without energetic opposition from the enemy.

"Second—The situation is unchanged on our center in the region of Verdun, our forces alternately and retiring. There have been some partial success on our right."

"Third—The advancing troops and the allies defending Paris have had some combats on the Oise river with the results in favor of the allies."

"Fourth—The minister of marine has telegraphed to the governor of Maubeuge, expressing the government's admiration for the heroic defense, and saying: 'You stop at nothing to prolong resistance until the hour of your approaching deliverance, which I hope will be soon.'

"The commander-in-chief has placed the name of the governor of Maubeuge in the order of the day for his splendid defence."

ON OFFENSIVE

LONDON, Sept. 7, 11:45 p. m.—The following official bulletin was issued tonight:

"General Joffre's plans are being steadily carried out. The allied forces, acting on the offensive, have been successful in checking and forcing back in a northeast direction the German forces opposed to them."

Germans Retreat.

PARIS, Sept. 7, via London, Sept. 7, 8:35 p. m.—It is officially announced that Germans are retreating from the line of Nanteuil-Le-Houdouin to Verdun, after a vigorous action with French and British troops.

An official statement given out in Paris today, said that a general action had started on the line from Nanteuil-Le-Houdouin to Verdun, a distance of 120 miles. It was then said that thanks to the vigorous action of the French troops, supported by the British, the Germans had "started retreating." Unofficial advices from Berlin also have indicated that a battle of tremendous importance was being fought in the territory described.

Meaux is 22 miles east of Paris and Sezanne is about 55 miles east of Paris. The line of the battle is in the direction of the sound. Dr. E. L. Gros and A. J. Magnin of the American ambulance corps were first on the field yesterday with ten ambulances and twenty stretcher bearers. They left the city in the evening, and followed the sound of the cannon, and passed beyond them until they were in the zone between the armies. They picked up some wounded Arabs, who had been pressing in pursuit of the Germans. Following a trail afforded by the smoke from burning farmhouses the physicians encountered a French patrol, who said that between 200 and 300 wounded Germans were in a ruined church close to the German line and attended by a single German nurse.

French Flank Enemy.

PARIS, Sept. 7, (12:30 p. m.)—In the fighting which is going on today to the east and northeast of Paris, the German forces have their backs toward the capital. French troops are harassing their march. From time to time the Germans turn and engage the French at their backs. French shells fall continually in the German rear.

Observers consider that it is obvious that the Germans could not attack Paris while the French armies were intact and are continuing their wide turning movement under perilous circumstances.

The Red Cross surgeons and ambulance corps in Paris had received instructions that when they heard fighting to go in the direction of the sound. Dr. E. L. Gros and A. J. Magnin of the American ambulance corps were first on the field yesterday with ten ambulances and twenty stretcher bearers. They left the city in the evening, and followed the sound of the cannon, and passed beyond them until they were in the zone between the armies. Germans Destroy Dinant, Shoot Many Inhabitants

LONDON, Sept. 8, 12:26 a. m.—An Ostend despatch to The Reuter Telegram company says:

"The Germans have destroyed the Belgian town of Dinant, fifteen miles south of Namur, after shooting hundreds of the male inhabitants, because it was alleged shots had been fired from the heights overlooking the city."

One party of 100 prominent citizens were executed in the Place d'Armes. While the shooting and burning was going on the workmen residents of the city were confined in the convents. A branch of the national bank, where M. Himmels, the wealthy manager of a large weaving factory, and M. Penelot, son of a former senator. The latter was killed in the presence of his wife and children. Germans appeared at the door of the convent, and they demanded the cash in the safe. The manager, M. Wasseuize, refused to hand it over, whereupon he, together with his two sons, were shot.

Dinant, which had a population of about 5,000, dated back to the sixth century. The town was picturesquely situated beneath limestone cliffs near the River Meuse. The cliffs were surrounded by the walls of an old fort, much decayed through neglect, and were used to defend the town against any attack by the passage of military forces by the river.

SEVEN BURN TO DEATH

LA CROSSE, Wis., Sept. 7.—Seven men, railway construction employees, were burned to death in a fire in a hay barn just outside this city today. The men were on their way back to their camp from the city and are supposed to have stopped in the barn to sleep, with the result that the building was set on fire by their matches.

ALL EYES TURN TO AMERICANS FOR AID SAYS GOMPERS

Labor Leader Points Out Opportunities Afforded By War

IS CLEARING HOUSE

Hopes U. S. Will Help Warring Nations Back to Peace

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in an address, in connection with the Labor Day ceremonies here, pointed out the opportunities of Americans, both in the United States and abroad, to help the warring nations. He said that the conditions of all lines of commerce in Europe incident to the war, leaving this year, in the week set apart for the celebration of the anniversary of a hundred years of peace between the United States and Great Britain, Mr. Gompers said:

"By some strange chance of fortune, when the time for this celebration was near, when men's thoughts were of peace and the ways of peace, the countries of the western civilization are suddenly plunged into a terrific struggle, a stupendous death grapple for existence, with weapons so deadly that human life is being swept with mad extravagance."

URGES OBSERVANCE OF NATIONAL SONG DAY

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 7.—Governor William D. Johnson issued the following proclamation calling for the observance of National Song Day, September 11, the centennial anniversary of the writing of the "Star Spangled Banner":

"Next Monday, September 14, will be the centennial anniversary of the 'Star Spangled Banner' and in compliance with numerous requests from civic and other organizations I commend to the people of California an observance of the day with some patriotic manifestation. The singing of the hymn in the schools, in places of recreation, and at all gatherings where it is feasible has been suggested and I join heartily in proposing this plan. For us all, old and young, our national hymn is a source of worth, inspiration and a celebration of its greatest contribution to our nationality should give added impulse to our patriotic zeal."

SPY ARRESTED

PARIS, Sept. 7, 11 a. m.—A German officer was arrested today near Carbel on the river Seine, 15 miles south of Paris, wearing the uniform of the French military automobile corps.

Callen the peoples of Europe, the eyes and the hopes of all turn to America for sustaining aid. Our fervent desire is that she may prove herself worthy of the great service that lies ahead of her."

"While all the other great countries have looked the normal interests of life, America alone maintains toward all mankind, America is to become the clearing house for all international life. She has the opportunity to become the world's banker. Her great power and influence are moral. When that power and influence shall be used as befits a great and a free people determines her future greatness. May she prove to the world that there is such a thing as international morality and that she can help the warring nations back to a plane of peace and justice, is the earnest desire of America's workers and all her citizens."

Industrial Day

BALTIMORE, Sept. 7.—In recognition of the workingman's holiday, today was designated as Industrial Day at the celebration of the centenary of the writing of the Star Spangled Banner. The chief feature was a civic and industrial parade.

The old United States frigate "Constitution" will remain here during the week's festivities. Other features were the annual convention of the Fraternal Order of Orioles; the unveiling of the tablet to mark the site of the station on Pratt street near Light street, where the first telegraph message was received and the middle state regatta.

Parade in Boston

BOSTON, Sept. 7.—Fifteen thousand workers took part in Boston's Labor Day parade. At the conclusion of the parade there was a mass meeting in the interests of the strikers in the Colorado coal fields.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Although generally observed as a holiday, Labor Day in New York was marked by the absence of any official program. Plans for the usual parade were abandoned because of the European war.

ANTI-KAMMIA TABLETS FOR Locomotor Ataxia

In a very interesting article on Locomotor Ataxia, Dr. Henry C. Story says that drugs have practically no beneficial effect in this case. He says that rest should be insisted upon, and there should be no worries or troubles. Plenty of fresh air and moderate exercise must be insisted upon. But over exertion is injurious. The use of tobacco and alcohol should be strictly forbidden. The food must be of the most nourishing kind and the quantity of water must be increased so that the patient will not lose his appetite. The most annoying symptom in these cases is the pain which at times is almost unbearable. Dr. Story says that he finds two Anti-Kammia Tablets repeated in four hours if necessary, gives prompt relief and that these tablets can be obtained at all drug stores in any quantity desired. Ask for A-K Tablets.

Also indicated for rheumatism, neuralgia and all pain.

P. S. Skin troubles succumb to A-K Salve.—Advertisement.

WITHIN RIGHTS IN BOARDING SHIP

Britain Had Power to Remove and Detain Reservists

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—Great Britain acted wholly within her rights, when she detained forty German reservists, taken at Hong Kong from the American steamship Manchuria of the Pacific Mail fleet.

This was made clear in the detailed report brought to shore by officers and passengers of the Pacific Mail liner China, which arrived here today from Hong Kong, Yokohama and Honolulu. The Manchuria was boarded by the port authorities within the three mile limit. Previous despatches from Honolulu had not made clear whether she had been searched on the high seas or within the treaty limits of a British port.

The Manchuria arrived at Hong Kong August 2, two days out from Manila, where the German reservists took passage for Germany via the United States. Port officers lined up all the saloon passengers, picked out the Germans from the pursers' roll and sent them to the detention station on Stonecutters Island. No Americans were reported from Honolulu were held. War between Great Britain and Austria had not then been declared.

Ludwig Reicher, an Austrian merchant in the Philippine Islands, who is also a private in the Austrian reserves, gave an unimpeachable identification today of the two boarded and detained reservists, which have been variously reported at Hong Kong in Shanghai despatches as German and English warships.

Reicher said they were the British cruisers Lancashire and Hampshire, which had been in battle with the German cruisers Goeben and Selandor in the south China sea. His information came from the Austrian consul in Shanghai, he said.

Captain Hans Thompson and C. M. Landers, purser of the China, said no battle occurred wherever were in Hong Kong at the time the China left there on August 12.

They reported the harbor heavily mined and searchlights playing over it all night. No shipping was permitted to move after dark. All business men were compelled to take their turn standing watch at different points of vantage. All reliable news was being suppressed by the authorities and the newspapers, being censored every two hours, were filled with rumors which kept excitement alive.

Much the same news conditions were found to exist in Japan. Reicher said there already had advanced in price.

The China brought a cargo valued at $2,500,000, including 8400 sacks of refined sugar from Hong Kong.

ROOSEVELT TALKS ON FLOOD CONTROL

$25,000,000 "Blackmail" Should Be Turned to Mississippi

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 7.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt delivered a public address in the French opera house here tonight in which he urged that "this government, instead of paying $25,000,000 blackmail to alien wrongdoers and their heirs," as proposed in the despatch with Columbia over the Panama canal property, should "use that $25,000,000 and the plant of the Mississippi extra as are necessary, to take control of the Mississippi and to develop all its possibilities of usefulness from the headwaters to the delta."

Colonel Roosevelt made a particular point of the flood problem, which he said must be met not only by levees, but great storage reservoirs, upstream, which would not only store the floods, but serve as a source of irrigation power. He concluded his lecture that he had been an advocate of federal control of the river for a long time. "I insisted upon it when I was president," he said, "but neither of the old parties adopted it. It is only the Progressive party that has seen the need of such a far-reaching constructive policy."

Praises Louisiana Progressives.

He spoke warmly of the Progressives in Louisiana. There were no other members of the party, he said, who more emphatically deserved credit of the party than the Progressives of Louisiana. He spoke of the old Republican party as having a "deliberate purpose to become the bulwark of Bourbon antagonism to advance throughout the nation, and said the Democrats were 'wedded to outworn principles of government and dead and buried economic theories.'"

The day was Labor day, which led him to discuss the industrial and economic situation. "Both the old parties are wedded to their idols. The Republican party, by every action it has taken during the past two years, has made it evident that it intends to do as it likes and to ignore the needs of the people. It has done nothing whatever for labor and its action on the trusts and the tariff has shown that it is not fit to run the government. With the trusts they have adopted the policy of 'ring' as to hit it if it is a bear and to miss it if it is a calf." He told his audience that the people of Louisiana were among those hardest hit by "the backward reactionary policy" which the government has adopted as regards the tariff. He asserted that the promise to break up the trusts and reduce the cost of living had not been realized. He took up in detail the matter of sugar with which Louisiana is closely identified. The removal of duty on this commodity, he said, had been a big contributing cause to the present high prices for sugar, not only in Louisiana, but in the sugar industry, but causing damage upon the whole public.

Intelligence For Tariff.

"Germany's great economic development during the forty-three years preceding this lamentable war," he said, "has been due largely to the intelligent use of a tariff commission. The Progressive proposal along this line he held to be the only real hope for good business from the standpoint of all."

He pointed to the disturbed business conditions in the country which, he said, was the result of a government commission with power to let business men from the beginning what was right for them to do and what was wrong. In New York, he said, the small provision dealers had been anxious to come together for a tariff commission. "In order that poor people might obtain it at as little added expense as possible. Such decisions as that in the harvest case had made it practically impossible for these dealers to come together, for even talking over an understanding that would be vitally necessary in the interest of the community at large," without being liable to prosecution.

INDIAN DOMINATION FEARED IN MEXICO

Threaten to Go on War-Path Unless Lands Are Restored

EL PASO, Sept. 7.—Danger of Indian domination in northern Mexico was reported today to the State Department at Washington, as it was asserted by consuls in Sonora and Chihuahua. Jose Maria Maytorena, who recently retired against the Carranza central government, was under the power of Urbalejo, a Yaqui leader, who had been dictating every policy of the Sonora governor. These threatening reports followed assurances that all been arranged in Sonora at the recent conference at Nogales. Attended by Generals Villa and Obregon. General Felipe Angeles, who was recently ejected from the Carranza cabinet, where he held the portfolio of war secretary, has been sent by Villa into Sonora to attempt an adjustment of the troubles there, according to statements made here today.

It is said today that the Indians threaten to go on the warpath unless the lands they held before the Spanish invasion be immediately returned to them.

QUAKE RECORDED AT SAN JOSE

SAN JOSE, Sept. 7.—Professor Albert Newlin of the Observatory staff of the University of Santa Clara, reports that a remarkably distinct earth shock was produced on both the double horizontal and the vertical seismograph this morning, lasting five seconds.

The first movement began at 10:55:35 a. m. and was perceptible for a second or so and then gradually subsided to the end at 10:10. The double amplitude was 25 millimeters and the period eight-tenths of a second. Professor Newlin calculated the epicenter local, as evidenced by the direction of "primaries" and the movement from southeast to northwest.

A subsequent shock was recorded at 1:10 p. m., but it was of minor importance.

2,000,000 GERMANS FIGHTING IN FRANCE

LONDON, Sept. 7, 2:10 p. m.—A despatch to the Evening Star from Rotterdam says that during the first nineteen days of the war more than 2,000 trains bearing German troops for the Western front of the war passed over the five bridges of the Rhine at Cologne.

Notwithstanding this enormous army, reinforcements are still being hurried to the front, not only to take the place of those killed and wounded, but in order to carry out the German plan that so far as possible fresh troops be hurled at men who already have borne the burden of the day.

In addition to the tremendous steel guns of the Germans, ordinary field pieces have been hurried forward.

An American who has just arrived from Cologne, containing the Star's correspondent, states that he met a wounded German officer who told him that the success of the Germans was due entirely to the fact that the troops always had a rest after an engagement. The army corps were being used in shifts to keep them fresh.

It is only the Progressive party that has seen the need of such a far-reaching constructive policy."

Praises Louisiana Progressives.

He spoke warmly of the Progressives in Louisiana. There were no other members of the party, he said, who more emphatically deserved credit of the party than the Progressives of Louisiana. He spoke of the old Republican party as having a "deliberate purpose to become the bulwark of Bourbon antagonism to advance throughout the nation, and said the Democrats were 'wedded to outworn principles of government and dead and buried economic theories.'"

The day was Labor day, which led him to discuss the industrial and economic situation. "Both the old parties are wedded to their idols. The Republican party, by every action it has taken during the past two years, has made it evident that it intends to do as it likes and to ignore the needs of the people. It has done nothing whatever for labor and its action on the trusts and the tariff has shown that it is not fit to run the government. With the trusts they have adopted the policy of 'ring' as to hit it if it is a bear and to miss it if it is a calf." He told his audience that the people of Louisiana were among those hardest hit by "the backward reactionary policy" which the government has adopted as regards the tariff. He asserted that the promise to break up the trusts and reduce the cost of living had not been realized. He took up in detail the matter of sugar with which Louisiana is closely identified. The removal of duty on this commodity, he said, had been a big contributing cause to the present high prices for sugar, not only in Louisiana, but in the sugar industry, but causing damage upon the whole public.

Intelligence For Tariff.

"Germany's great economic development during the forty-three years preceding this lamentable war," he said, "has been due largely to the intelligent use of a tariff commission. The Progressive proposal along this line he held to be the only real hope for good business from the standpoint of all."

He pointed to the disturbed business conditions in the country which, he said, was the result of a government commission with power to let business men from the beginning what was right for them to do and what was wrong. In New York, he said, the small provision dealers had been anxious to come together for a tariff commission. "In order that poor people might obtain it at as little added expense as possible. Such decisions as that in the harvest case had made it practically impossible for these dealers to come together, for even talking over an understanding that would be vitally necessary in the interest of the community at large," without being liable to prosecution.

STEFANSSON MAROONED ON ICE; NOT IN DANGER

Letter Received From Eskimo Tells of His Plight

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 7.—Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the Canadian explorer, is marooned on the ice off Herschel Island, according to Dr. H. Fry, a missionary, who has been among the Eskimos and who arrived here today from Kitchikan. Stefansson is in no immediate danger.

Dr. Fry based his assertion on a letter he received from an Eskimo on June 8, the day he started south.

The Eskimo wrote that he knew Stefansson had left Herschel Island and had gone out on the ice with two of his men, Anderson (not Dr. Anderson, his lieutenant), and Stefansson. The ice broke up suddenly, the water explored and his companions were unable to get off. The Eskimo said he had been told by native whalers who had helped Stefansson on the ice that the party had ammunition and food sufficient to last all winter.

The last definite word of Stefansson was brought to Nome, Alaska, on September 1, by a schooner from Point Barrow.

The captain of the schooner reported that after making an attempt to cross the ice, three of Stefansson's firemen, only in a "bathtub and trousers, and engaged in a series of running fights with natives, had returned to the harbor river, east of the mouth of the Barter river, on April 14. The crew of Stefansson's ship, Karik, which was crushed in the ice north of Herald Island, is believed to be marooned on Wrangel Island.

ROOSEVELT TALKS ON FLOOD CONTROL

$25,000,000 "Blackmail" Should Be Turned to Mississippi

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 7.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt delivered a public address in the French opera house here tonight in which he urged that "this government, instead of paying $25,000,000 blackmail to alien wrongdoers and their heirs," as proposed in the despatch with Columbia over the Panama canal property, should "use that $25,000,000 and the plant of the Mississippi extra as are necessary, to take control of the Mississippi and to develop all its possibilities of usefulness from the headwaters to the delta."

Colonel Roosevelt made a particular point of the flood problem, which he said must be met not only by levees, but great storage reservoirs, upstream, which would not only store the floods, but serve as a source of irrigation power. He concluded his lecture that he had been an advocate of federal control of the river for a long time. "I insisted upon it when I was president," he said, "but neither of the old parties adopted it. It is only the Progressive party that has seen the need of such a far-reaching constructive policy."

BOSSSES OR MEMBERS?

Political history is again repeating itself, and the official organization of the Republican party once more puts itself into square opposition to the act of the rank and file of the same party. The majority of the Republican voters of California, at the recent primary nominated certain persons to be their candidates for state and legislative offices. Most of these persons were Progressive, and were nominated by the Republican voters with full knowledge of this fact. The rank and file of the Republican registration thereby demonstrated since more than it is predominantly still Progressive. But the party organization once more demonstrated that it will not permit the party to be progressive, even when the majority of its members vote that it shall be so.

Gustav Brenner, who calls himself chairman of the Republican state central committee, though he was never elected to that position by the Republican voters, sent Milton Schmitt of San Francisco to Los Angeles to consult with Phil Stanton, who calls himself the Republican national committeeman for California, though, also, he was never chosen to that position by the Republicans of California. Schmitt, after consultation with Stanton and with John D. Fredericks, Republican nominee for governor, returns to San Francisco and announces that a legal battle, in which Joseph R. Knowland, successful contestant, and S. M. Shortridge, unsuccessful contestant for the Republican nomination for United States Senator will take part is about to be started for the purpose of taking away from the majority winners in the Republican primary the nominations which the Republican voters gave them. The same old cry is raised that these nominations were "stolen" and if it is stealing for the members of a party to assume control against the organized leadership of that party, then, of course, the cry is correct.

It is, to be sure, true that the law of California permits the voters of any party to nominate any persons whom they choose as its candidates, and it is expressly provided that they shall not be confined to the members of their own party in making these nominations. It is also true that this law is not new, except to the extent of providing more convenient machinery for accomplishing its purpose and of leaving the decision to the voters, instead of to the bosses. Even before this law was passed it was always possible and was not uncommon for parties to nominate candidates not of their own party. Even National Committeeman Stanton himself, who is at the head of this movement, once ran for the legislature and was elected as the candidate of both the Republican and the Democratic parties. If we mistake not, Milton Schmitt, who is the messenger boy of this scheme, has been elected as a candidate of two parties, and Congressman Knowland, who is to be its chief advisor, has been elected to Congress as the candidate of the Republican and the Democratic parties. Congressman Kahn, who represents the district in which Milton Schmitt and Gustav Brenner both reside, is now the candidate of both the Republican and the Progressive parties for Congress, and there is no objection to it. The custom is as old as parties and is as legitimate as any other form of party self-government. The only objection comes when the selection is made by the rank and file and not by the self-appointed bosses of the party.

So once more we have the spectacle of the organization of the Republican party exerting all its power to prevent the members of the Republican party from controlling its action. This is precisely the reason why the organized Progressives first left the Republican party. They knew that the rank and file of the Republican party was Progressive, but they had learned by experience that the party was so organized that the rank and file could not control it, except by the consent of the self-appointed and self-perpetuating leaders. They determined that if the members of the party could not control it they would form another party, so organized as to be able to govern itself. In California, one part of the Progressive movement followed them into the new party and another part remained in the Republican party, determined to try once more the experiment of making the Republican party progressive. That experiment, so far as the majority of its nominations this year in California are concerned, has succeeded. But the organized leadership of the party refuses to accept this result. Fortunately, the law of California is plain, and is paramount in this state over the rules of party bosses. The nominations made by the Republican voters will prevail, and the bosses and their associates will morally be left to their usual remedy of voting the Democratic ticket. In several cases, even this will be impossible, since the odious Progressives were so popular that they received the Democratic nominations also. But that was merely the indulgence of the people of California. What might have the mere people to make nominations when the bosses had arranged others.

EIGHT HOUR LAW

In all his speeches since the primaries, Governor Johnson, without definitely making an issue of any initiative measure, has made it entirely evident that he is resolved to prevent any possible misunderstanding of the relation of the proposed universal eight-hour law to the Progressive administration. In speaking of the women's eight-hour law, which applies not to women universally, but to the women in those regularly or organized occupations in which it is workable, Governor Johnson has gone out of his way to explain that this law must not be confused with the universal eight-hour law. The limited women's eight-hour law was passed by the Progressive legislature and signed by a Progressive governor, and the Progressive movement is very proud to stand sponsor for it. But the universal eight-hour initiative is a very different matter. It was introduced in the legislature by a Socialist and was defeated by Progressive votes. It is now in still more drastic form submitted to the people by the initiative of the Socialists, and is a definite appeal to the people of California to pass a socialistic measure on socialistic grounds. The Socialists have a right to make this appeal, and if the majority of the people of California believed in socialism, they would doubtless vote for it. But there should be no misunderstanding of the matter. This measure is not a Progressive, but is a Socialist measure. It is introduced by persons who know that it could not be made to work under the present organization of society and industry, and who regard this fact as a virtue. They do not believe in the present system of conducting industry and they think it would be a good thing to break that system down. That the proposed measure might destroy profits and jeopardize wages is no objection from the standpoint of those who believe that profits and wages are bad things. All who agree with them and who wish to abolish profits and wages will doubtless vote for this measure. No others should do so.

Just as the distinction must be made between the Progressive measure for an eight-hour day for women in certain industries and this Socialist measure for an universal and compulsory eight-hour day for everybody, so a distinction must be made between the eight-hour day and the eight-hour law. Legitimate opposition to this measure is not opposition to the eight-hour day, but rather to the enforcement of that day by law and to its rigid application to industries and circumstances in which it cannot be made to work. The eight-hour day in organized industries is a good thing and most industries are coming to it. Those which have stubbornly refused it will doubtless in due time be brought to it by the action of organized labor among their own employees. But even the eight-hour day as enforced by organized labor is less rigid than this law. It applies only to those forms of labor in which it is workable, and it allows exceptions even to these, provided they are necessary and do not deprive waiting workmen of employment, and that there is liberal pay at advanced rates for overtime work.

There are, however, some occupations in which the eight-hour day is not necessary nor now workable, and there are other occupations, like harvesting crops, transporting goods, and all manner of emergency work, in which labor must sometimes be done temporarily on the basis fixed by the emergency or by the operations of nature, and not by any law or business rule. The general extension of the eight-hour day through the efforts of organized labor are not only proper as a protection to the workers, but are also an advantage to business and to the community.

It will easily be possible for the next legislature to provide a legitimate eight-hour law, if there is any general demand for it, and we understand that the former organizations are willing to co-operate in the passage of such a law. But the law as now proposed is not workable, and in some of its applications would be ruinous. It is proposed by persons who would not regret to see it have certain ruinous consequences. It ought to receive the votes of these persons and of no others. In that case it will be overwhelmingly defeated, and the question of passing a legitimate eight-hour law can then be laid before the next legislature.

Vest Pocket Essays
GEORGE FITCH
Author of "At Good Old Stew" and "The Sheep"

The sheep is a bundle of dirty wool, equipped with four black legs and a "bun."

The sheep uses the legs to get into trouble and the "bun" as a substitute for brains. It is about the only creature which would be better off with several legs less. If the sheep could be hauled to and from pastures on a cart it would require less care and would repay its owner more richly.

The sheep comes into the world as a blithe little lamb. Its legs are full grown at this time and begin at once to carry it where it has no business to go. By the time a lamb's legs have had a year's practice, they can carry him so far in an hour that it will take a shepherd all night to find him. A sheep doesn't know any more about finding his way home than a member of the Broadway bar in New York. He will also follow his leader over a precipice like a strait jacket man over a ticket furnished by three bosses in the back room of a saloon.

The sheep spends his life eating grass with his long sharp bill, and wagging his short, staccato tail. He eats in a thorough and palatable fashion and after he had lunched off an acre of ground an army worm would have to carry provisions to get across it. Because of his patient way of accumulating a toothful of food here and another there, the sheep can flourish on land which is not useful for any other purpose except to sell to city men for fruit orchards. The rolling wastes of Australia and the West are covered with sheep who get fat where even the land agent and the wool prospecter grows thinner every year.

Sheep are also used instead of lawn mowers by economical golf clubs, but the golf ball diet makes their flesh tough and reduces their market value. In the spring the sheep is seized by a rude man who cuts his wool.

"Hauled to and from pastures on a cart."

The sheep furnishes us with most of our winter clothes, but he is not as useful about it. A sheep who has just been sheared is as dejected as a farmer who has gone into a city barber shop near a union depot, and has had $11.45 worth of hair cut with accessories.

The sheep gives us mutton, and the innocent lamb is equally pleasant when embroiled in poetry and when roasted with mint sauce. We should love the sheep, but it is hard to respect him until after he is dead.

TRIAL OF MACNAGHTON

The most celebrated trial in connection with an Irish abduction, was that of John Macnaghton, who was arrested, tried and executed for the murder of Mary, Queen of Scots, at a point between Londonderry and Strabane, Ireland, about the middle of the eighteenth century.

Abduction was, at that time, a common practice in Ireland, and "abduction clubs," composed of young bloods were numerous. The purpose of these gangs was to carry away helmsmen holding their prisoners, each for a day or two, after which, in accordance with the ideas prevailing at the time, the honor of the family required their consent to the marriage to her abductor. It will be seen, however, that other elements entered into the Macnaghton case, which cast a most illuminating light on certain social conditions in Ireland at that period.

This affair is in all its details a painful and melancholy story. Macnaghton was of no noble family, being descended from an ancient Scottish clan of that name, which several centuries before had settled in Antrim. He owned a large estate; many of his near relations held high offices and one of his uncles was the county magistrate of Antrim. Educated at Trinity College, Dublin, he there cultivated a strong desire for gambling, which, ultimately was the cause of his crime. He associated with the rank and file of both England and Ireland, to whom he was introduced by the Earl of Massareene.

After a few years of riotous living and games and chance, he had exhausted all his money, sold half of his estate, and mortgaged the other half. He then married a lady with a fortune of $250,000, but before the ceremony she and her friends made him take an oath to abstain from any more gambling, and this he did for two years, but entered with the fever he again started, with the result that his wife's fortune soon followed his, and the wife, falling into nervous disorder, soon died.

Macnaghton then paid his attention to young Miss Knox, who was a beauty of 15 years old, and who promised to marry him, if he could but get the consent of her father. This, however, was not obtained, and moreover, upon the request being made to the papa, he was prohibited from entering the house, and was forbidden watching his opportunity. In one day entered the house when the father was absent. He found the girl in a retired room in company with a young boy and there he pressed her to marry him. Jeopardizing his own peace of mind, he pulled out a pocket-book, he saw the girl flung her arms round his neck, and she made the responses, but to every one of which she added, provided her father consented.

Later, after a battle of words in a newspaper, in which Mr. Knox denounced Macnaghton, and the latter cautioning every one not to marry his "lawful wife," the case was taken to Londonderry. At this trial, Macnaghton kept away the youth who was present at the sham marriage, whose name was Hamilton, and consequently nothing could be proved, as he was the only witness. The case was then carried first to the Metropolitan Court of Armagh, and then to a court of delegates in Ireland. Here Hamilton gave evidence, with the result that Mr. Knox obtained $2500 damages.

This defeat ranked in the breast of Macnaghton to the extent that after brooding he decided to murder the girl upon the first chance. Hearing that on November 10, Knox, accompanied by his family, would travel to Dublin, he lay in wait on that date concealed behind a curtain which hid him completely from sight of any lawless eyes. Knox traveled with a retinue of servants, his brother and his wife, daughter and son. Feeling that Macnaghton would not dare attack him with so large a company and each one armed, the travelers struggled out. When the coach containing the girl passed the curb it was almost alone and Macnaghton, along with two accomplices, James MacCarret and Thomas Dunlop, rushed out. After a struggle, in which many shots were discharged, Macnaghton, with his pistols in crime walked off uncon-

Land and Sea

How widespread and important is the use of electricity in modern warfare, as it is now being waged in Europe, is not generally understood. From "snorkling" the motor of the swift flying armored air ship, or the heavily loaded motor truck of the commissary department, to revolving the turrets and controlling the fire of great battle ships, or setting off the mines which destroy these monsters of the sea, it enters into a wide variety of uses.

For the purpose of showing how important a part electricity plays in modern warfare, the army and navy of the United States, is arranging a series of special exhibits to be included in the Electrical Exposition and Motor Show to be held in New York City, the second week in October. No effort is being spared to make these exhibits as interesting and educational as possible.

One of these exhibits will show the use of electricity in coast defense. It will embrace the mining of harbors, handling of big guns, signal devices and lines of communication, the use of search lights, etc., in all of which electricity plays a more or less important part. One of the navy exhibits will be the bridge of a battleship, completely equipped, detailed, and showing how electricity is used to control the great fighting ships of this nation, and, incidentally, how those of other nations now at war are handled when they go into action. How electricity is employed in submarine and how electric cooking ranges for warships, also to be shown in action, are other features of the navy exhibit.

A small arsenal, fully equipped and engaged in making ammunition, is to be exhibited by the Ordnance Department of the United States Army. The chief of this department, Brig. Gen. William Crozier, is taking personal charge of the preparation and display of this exhibit. The electrically operated machinery and the officers and men who will use it in making ammunition, the Electric Exposition and Motor Show, will come from the Frankfurt arsenal at Philadelphia.

However, most of the 150 exhibits already arranged, and which make this forth-coming exposition which is the eighth annual one in the history of the Electric Exposition, actually, anywhere, are devoted to a more peaceful use of electricity, to its constructive rather than its destructive employment. The government also participates in this phase of the exposition for a United States unit, actually, the Electric Exposition, is to be shown under the direction of George Roberts, director of the mint, Washington, D. C. An electrical dairy, where real cows are milked, and butter and cheese made, all through the use of electricity, the electric stimulation of plant and flower growth, and electric automobiles in operation on a trolley track, are among the many other interesting features already arranged.

ITALIANS SHOT.
LONDON, Sept. 7, 3:32 p. m.—In a dispatch from Rome, the correspondent of the London Standard says that several Italians have been arrested and shot just over the frontier in the Austrian province of Istria. They were accused of trying to foment rebellion against Austria among the Italian inhabitants of that province and they were executed without trial.

MINERS' CASES ARE UNDER ADVISEMENT

BUTTE, Mont., Sept. 7.—United States District Judge George M. Borah took under advisement today the pending writ of habeas corpus in the cases of three men now held as prisoners by the National Guard of Montana under martial law. Attorneys for the militia appeared in court today to show their reasons for holding the men. The argument lasted the entire day. Judge Borah announced that he would announce his decision Wednesday. Attorneys for the prisoners admitted, during the argument, that a state of insurrection existed in Butte before the National Guardsmen arrived.

The day was the quietest in Butte for many days. A curfew was established in that the police made no arrests in the twenty-four hours preceding 6 o'clock tonight.

The militiamen completed arrangements for a long stay by receiving overcoats and supplies used in permanent camps. Major General Dwyer said today that he did not expect any organized rioting, but he would not be surprised if there were cases of isolated dynamiting.

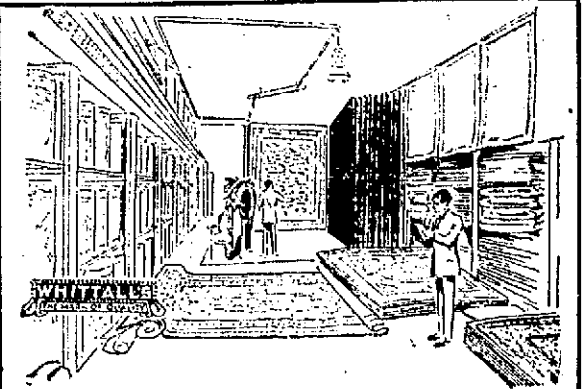

The summary court imposed heavy fines and jail sentences today upon saboteurs who violated the militia's orders to keep saloons closed. Their licenses were revoked.

The state guard also was augmented today by the arrival of a detachment of twenty-five men and four machine guns from Helena.

Under a permit granted by the militia, the Mine Workers Union will meet tonight. The old union also will meet in regular session tomorrow night.

INCITING MOSLEMS.
LONDON, Sept. 7, 2:40 p. m.—The correspondent of the Reuters Telegram Company at Rome says that a despatch has been received there from Naples saying:

"Stomachs arriving from Egypt report that German emissaries are inciting the Mohammedans against England, saying that Germany is everywhere victorious."

ACID STOMACHS ARE DANGEROUS
Nine-tenths of All Stomach Trouble Said to Be Due to Acidity.

A physician's advice on Cause and Cure. A famous physician whose successful researches into the cause and cure of stomach and intestinal diseases have earned for him an international reputation, said in the course of a recent lecture that nearly all intestinal troubles as well as many diseases of the vital organs, were directly traceable to a deranged condition of the stomach which in turn was due nine times out of ten to excessive acidity, or, in common terms, sour stomach or heartburn, which not only irritated and inflamed the delicate lining of the stomach, but also set up gastritis and stomach ulcers. It is interesting to note that he condemns the use of patent medicines as well as of medical treatment for the stomach, stating that he and his colleagues have secured remarkable results by the use of ordinary, natural, wholesome food, by neutralizing the acidity of the food, removing the source of the trouble. He contends that it is as foolish to treat the stomach itself as it would be to treat a man who is suffering from a tick to rub liniment on the foot without first removing the tick. Remove the tick and the foot will heal itself. Neutralize the acid and the stomach troubles will disappear. Irritating medicines and medical treatments are useless, as long as the cause remains active, and the acid remains active; remove the acidity, and there will be no need for medicine—the inflamed lining of the stomach will then heal itself. Sufferers from acidity, sour stomach or heartburn should get a small bottle of "Bismuth Magnesia" from their druggist and take it four times a day, after each meal, repeating in fifteen minutes, if necessary, this bismuth dose, which the doctor has found most efficacious in all cases. —Advertisement.

MRS. FRANK LANE DIES IN OAKLAND

Fresno Woman Victim of Apoplexy; Ill Only Two Weeks

Mrs. Frank M. Lane, wife of the principal of the Washington grammar school, died yesterday morning at 10:30 in Oakland, following a two weeks' illness from apoplexy.

News of Mrs. Lane's death was received in Fresno about noon yesterday by Maurice Burleigh and several other intimate friends of the family.

Mrs. Lane's death will be a sudden shock to her friends here, as few knew of her critical illness. No definite announcement has been made as to the cause of her death, but it is likely that the body will be brought to Fresno for interment.

Mrs. Lane's husband, mother and sisters were at the bedside when she died.

Mrs. Lane was taken ill about two weeks ago in Oakland while on a vacation. Her condition became alarming and Dr. Floyd Burks went to Oakland to hold a consultation with Dr. C. J. Craig of San Francisco.

Everything known to the medical men was done to save Mrs. Lane, but she gradually grew weaker.

Mrs. Lane was a native of Nevada, before coming to Fresno she made her home in Stockton with her parents.

About twenty-five years ago she came to this city and taught school. Three years later she married Frank Lane, a teacher in the public schools.

Mrs. Lane was the daughter of Mrs. J. A. Balthis, besides her husband and mother she leaves two sisters—Miss Katherine Balthis and Miss Margaret Balthis.

BORN
BOARDMAN—In Fresno, September 7, 1914, to the wife of J. C. Boardman, a daughter.

Escorted to Jail By Crowd; Prisoner Fights With Cop

Alex Boyd was escorted to jail yesterday afternoon by six men and had a following of about two hundred park riders. Boyd was "officially" arrested by Patrolman Bradley, but it required the assistance of five other men to get him to jail.

The trouble started in a saloon when Boyd tried to buy a hat and not to sell Boyd any more beer, as he had enough. This made Boyd mad, as he declared he knew his capacity better than any "cop."

Boyd objected to going to jail and put up a fight. At the entrance to the court house Boyd decided he would not walk. Bradley took hold of his feet, while five men got him by the arms and head and carried him to jail.

The quietude of the park was disturbed by the affair and about two hundred crowded around the jail door.

PIONEER RESIDENT CALLED BY DEATH
Frank Burleigh Dies Very Suddenly; Funeral Wednesday

Frank J. Burleigh, a well known pioneer of the San Joaquin valley, was called by death Sunday evening following a very short illness.

Burleigh was taken ill in the afternoon at his son's place of business on S street, and was removed to his home at 1305 Elmhurst avenue, where he died late in the evening.

Burleigh was 64 years of age and a native of New Hampshire. He came to Fresno county about forty years ago and was known as one of the most prominent of the old pioneers.

Burleigh was a prosperous grain and stock dealer, and was one of the owners of the Burleigh warehouse on the Southern Pacific reservation. Burleigh retired a few years ago and has been making his home in this city.

He is survived by his wife and two children—Charles Burleigh and Mrs. Hattie Penn. He also leaves two brothers and one sister—H. E. Burleigh and Fred Burleigh, and Mrs. Al McNeil, all of Fresno.

The funeral will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock from Stephens and Bean's chapel. Rev. Duncan Wallace of the Belmont Avenue Presbyterian church will officiate.

CHURCH TO CELEBRATE ANTI-SLUMP SUCCESS
First Presbyterian Is to Hold Social for Workers

The annual decrease in church attendance during the summer months was largely offset in the first Presbyterian church, this year, by conducting an anti-slump campaign. So large were the percentages of increase over corresponding periods in previous years, that the Sunday school will give a rally and social at the "Sign of the Green Umbrella" grounds, J and Tulare streets, from 7 to 9 o'clock this evening to celebrate the success of the campaign.

The affair was planned to be given earlier in the season, for the special honor of those who remained in Fresno. Now the school will include a rally of those who remained here and the vacationers who have returned.

The following figures are given to bear out that the anti-slump campaign was fruitful:

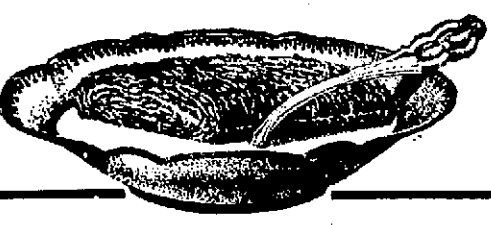

Average attendance for the whole school for five Sundays in May, 1913, was 398.8. For the same period in 1914 the average reached 446.6, with an increase of 8 per cent. The average attendance for the Sundays of July and August and the first Sunday in September was 1772 as compared with 2012 this year.

According to the records of the anti-slump campaign the following were present every Sunday: Miss Kate Darling, Mr. Dahlsgaard, Mary Hall, Elizabeth Hunt, Mrs. George Hume, Andrew J. Hershman, Vera Klaverson, Margaret Lindemann, R. McCallan, Miss L. Melvin, Mr. Ritchie, H. W. Shields, Clarence Schatz and W. T. Wilson. There were quite a number of others whose records showed only one or more excused absences.

Those of the Junior department were: Robert Merrill, Ruth Schurr, Pearlce Bente, Bernice Bente, Marion Burns, Clarence Burns, Harold Chitty, the teachers Miss Long, and Mrs. Heitzig and the chorister, A. R. Morrison. In the honor roll of the primary department are Dudley Gates, Arthur Morrison and Lucile Hatfield.

The honorary mention in the beginning department include the names of Norman Finley, Alice Sproule, Gordon Paine, Raymond Morrison and the teacher, Miss Armstrong.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—Word was received from Dublin today of the death in Austria Saturday of Mrs. Richard Crocker, wife of the former leader of Tammany Hall.

SOCIETY

One of the events of local importance, that claimed Oakland as its setting was the marriage of Miss Madeline Schumann and Herbert Levy, which was celebrated in the Bay city on Sunday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Schumann, on 337 Leona avenue. The wedding guests list was limited to the immediate families and close relatives of the young couple, and a simplicity of appointments marked the ceremony with elegance.

A decorative scheme with pink as the predominant color note enhanced the beauty of the spacious residence and formed an effective background for the bride. The bride was stunning in her nuptial robes of white tulle, and was escorted by her cousin, Mrs. Jerome Risse, as matron of honor. The bride's mother, Mrs. L. Schumann, was assisted by her sister, Mrs. Herman Levy, who wore a handsome gown of lavender with gold trimmings. LABOR-DAY CELEBRATION

less than this be reconciled with the strictest requirements of justice? Injustice Causes Strikes

When come the countless strikes and conflicts in the industrial world—the strikes, the walkouts, the lockouts? They are the immediate offspring of the spirit of injustice.

When the strikes in Michigan and Colorado? The corporations—the owners' organizations—told their employees they must not organize. Upon what principle of justice did the mine owners arrogate to themselves the right to organize?

Young John D. believes in organized churches and organized Sunday schools, and organized capital, but he is willing to kill men and murder women and burn babies to prevent the organization of mine workers' unions.

When the trouble in Stockton yesterday? Listen, my liberty-loving fellow citizens of this Golden State! The Mercantile, Manufacturers and Employers' Association is attempting to destroy the workers' association of that city! Why, men and women, they might just as well attempt to establish chattel slavery as maintain such injustice.

Hear, O Stockton, and Fresno, too, and all the cities from the sandy beaches of the Pacific to the rocky coast of the Atlantic. Hear the warning of the golden-tongued Ingersoll: "A government founded upon anything except liberty and justice cannot and ought not to stand. All the vessels on either side of the great gulf, and all the nations that have passed away—all are a warning that no nation founded upon injustice can stand."

From the sand-embroidered Egypt, from the marble wilderness of Athens, and from every fallen, crumbling stone of the once mighty Rome, comes a wall as it were, the cry that no nation founded upon injustice can permanently stand.

Brother workers and friends of this splendid, thriving metropolis of the San Joaquin, I invoke for you and for the workers and people everywhere—especially those engaged in that cruel struggle of the Atlantic—a new and militant baptism of the spirit of brotherhood.

For brotherhood, be it known, is not a mere sentiment, but a law as absolute as the law of gravitation.

Harmony is the aim of all law, the purpose of all programs and principles. The laws of nature and the laws of nations are designed to keep the world in harmony with all its parts. All true instruction and cultivation have for their object the harmonizing of the faculties of the being with the plan and purpose of life.

Floats Artistic.

Floats of many colors and of many designs occupied prominent positions in the parade. The majority of the floats represented several days of extreme hard labor on the part of the union entering them and the efforts attained were in many cases extremely pleasing. Members of the unions, who walked behind their floats, were clothed in the colors used in decoration thus carrying out the color scheme to a marked degree.

A bevy of pretty department store girls was the principal attraction of the float entered by the Retail Clerks' Union, although the decoration of the float was to be admired. Green and white was the color scheme, the decorations being gracefully draped over palm-shaped structures. Alternate strips of green and white formed the covering for the float, with artificial red roses adding the final touch of color. The young women in charge of the float were Misses Rosa Silva, Edna Wright, Mae Clark, Lela Jefferson, Vella Haffner, Jeanette Shafer, Helen Mayara, Myrtle Cruise, Martha Moore, Pearl Hayward, Georgia Jones, Bonnie Freeman and H. Eneklain.

A throne draped in green burlap with the lyre as the emblem formed the principal part of the Musicians' float. A stuffed eagle with wings spread was perched on the throne. Members of the Musicians' Union and their wives rode in the float.

A restaurant doing a rushing business was depicted by the float entered by the Cooks, Waiters and Waitresses' Union. In one end a large range in black and red-bellied forth smoke while the chef and waiters were busily engaged in serving patrons at the tables. Pine balsa supported the overhangings of the float. Purple and gold was the general color scheme.

The Allied Printing Trades Council entered a float of mission architecture decorated with purple and gold bunting, newspaper matrices and paper pennants bearing the inscription of the Union Label League. This was the only motor float entered in the parade. E. W. Muldoon of the Pressmen's union headed the float in a suit made of newspapers and carried a cork-wheel bearing the name of his organization.

The innermost workings of the telephone system were displayed by the float entered by the Electrical Workers' Union, No. 169. Four telephone poles, stationed one at each corner of the float, were connected with wires, giving the idea of the outside lines. Misses Hallie Riggins and Lena Gail operated a switchboard and received calls. The float was liberally decorated with telephones. Blue and white was the color scheme.

The float entered by the Laundry Workers' Union purported to show the advantage of union laundries over Japanese and Chinese laundries. A pumping plant in action was the feature of the "Sachinists" float. Grapes formed the decoration. The Bricklayers entered a float trimmed in the red, white and blue bunting. Directly on the start of the parade motions commenced the construction of a brick wall on each side of the float.

Another unique method of advertising the value of unionism was used by the Teamsters. One float bearing a host of ill-dressed youngsters was labeled "Before we organized." Another float with well-dressed children fol-

MAN AND EAGLE FIGHT IN MID-AIR ---JUNGLE PICTURE AT KINEMA

From "Travels and Big Game in Africa"—at the Kinema.

With the new type of comedy as invented by Vitaphone and continued today, and the rippling comedy so typical of the Beauty Company, and featuring Almarita Fischer and Harry Pollard in which that erratic young lady gets herself into any amount of trouble, even into jail, there is also one of those exciting chapter plays, with several unusual hand to hand and gun fights on today's program at the Kinema.

Pathe Dissatisfied.
Mr. Paul Pathe, upon reviewing some well-known African Wild Animal pictures, expressed himself as much displeased at the film from an artistic as well as from an interest point of view, and thereupon organized an expedition and penetrated the heart of government has forbidden the importation. The poor old birds are simply trained by their own kind into the hands of the hunters.

There are all sorts of thrilling incidents, numerous big and dangerous animals hunted and killed right before the camera in fact the largest elephant ever shot was killed on this expedition and when he fell it shook the earth for some distance around as if a huge building had toppled.

One unusual thrill is provided by an actual battle between an eagle and a man who had come to meet her nest, taken in mid-air while the man was suspended from a rope from far above.

On the same program is a comedy, semi-serious play featuring Dorothy Gish who has made such a success at the theatre, and a comedy featuring the mystery of the Mutual Girl's stolen jewels starts clearing. There is also a Keystone and another collection of Pathe's "Bullies"—Adv.

AN ALL-FUN BILL AT THE PLAZA

Olga Woods, daring trapeze artist, at the Plaza.

The excellent bill at the Plaza for the first half of the week has delighted good crowds on both nights that it has been here. Tonight is the last time that the present troupe will appear as there is, the usual mid-week change of bill tomorrow night.

In the troupe playing tonight for the last time there is the team of Bird & Delward, who open the show with a musical aerobatic work and Roman ring performance. This team is made up of people who are very clever in their use of work and who have a winning comic streak running through it that is highly enjoyable and which makes a great hit with the crowds.

Chester & Grace are a pair of young people whose duet dancing and vocal singing win the audience at once. Their work is very much above the average and the way in which they handle their act is much admired.

The big feature on the bill is the Australian Musical Melodrama, who dance and play on all sorts of odd musical instruments. There is an act that is unusual for the instruments they use are made of the commonest and oldest sorts of articles. They play on old tin cans, on pieces of wood and tin articles. But they have them arranged in such a manner that they get melody from them so there is everything to admire.

Willis & Chapman are the clever pair who have the delightful musical comedy, "Down on the Farm." Their comedy must be good for it sends the audience into paroxysms of glee. It is just plain musical comedy exaggerated enough to bring out the comic points clearly.

Bob Sanberg, the only single on the bill for this time, has a singing and monologue act that is very good. He knows how to please and his clever sallies and witty remarks make good. His stories are to the point and his songs are new. With all of these points in his favor, it is no wonder that he makes a hit.

The new bill coming tomorrow has a new lot of good acts on it.

Of course the Keystone comedy for this time is one of the best that has ever been given at the Plaza. It is full of comedy all through, and of course it has to be if it is a Keystone comedy.

Shows commence at 7:45 and 9:15. Tickets can be reserved over phone 312. —Adv.

WIZARD PRINCE OF ARABIA NEW BARNUM & BAILEY FEATURE

Olga Woods, rider, a Daring Trapezist—A "Little Daughter of the Circus"

Peanuts and pink lemonade will soon be ripe. A real circus with all the trimmings and furbelows is promised by the Barnum and Bailey circus folk when they exhibit in Fresno, Thursday, Sept. 10th—a circus that would make old K. T. B. himself turn green with envy. For a cast of over 3000 persons, there will be no looping-the-loops of soul-shattering acts, but an up-to-the-minute circus, with lots of color, a myriad of new features, and as an added attraction to all the wonders to be displayed in the rings, upon the stages and the hippodrome oval, a gorgeous and entrancing spectacle of kaleidoscopic splendor based upon a fairy romance and entitled "The Wizard Prince of Arabia." It will be far and away the most pretentious thing ever given by this greatest of circuses and will have a cast of over 3000 persons, together with a large ballet. The entire resources of the circus in people, horses, camels and elephants are utilized in this wordless play telling of the love and adventures of Prince Abdallah of Arabia, who wins and wins the hand of the Princess Ahloo Saran in the magic city of India ruled by King Mahar, her father. The costumes, trappings and properties present a perfect riot of color and money has been spent like water for this feature of the circus which is offered as a gratuitous addition to the regular arena program. The spectacle precedes the circus numbers in which over 300 artists take part, many of them making their initial appearances here.

SURVEY OF MOUNTAIN ROAD IS COMPLETED

It Will Connect Sequoia and General Grant National Parks

Motorists of Fresno and the entire state will be interested to learn that the government has completed the survey of a proposed road connecting the General Grant and Sequoia National Parks. This road, when completed, will open up new scenic wonders of the high mountains and afford motorists an easy route to get from one park to the other.

Frank W. DeVoe, who was a member of the government surveying party, has stated that it will take several years to complete the road building because of the rugged nature of the country which it will traverse.

"However, it will be well worth the cost," said DeVoe. "The number of visitors to the two parks from every part of the state is increasing every year. We have noticed an exceptional number of motorists the past season."

"The country is full of wild animals. Several times in the last few months bears have molested our camp and carried away provisions. Recently a bear with two cubs carried away several hams. We tried the animals in an effort to save the meat, but did not shoot them. It is against the Federal laws to kill a bear in the parks except in self-defense."

SAYS ALFALFA MEAL GOOD FOR SOLDIERS

Hanford Man Predicts Big Demand for It As Army Foodstuff

Alfalfa meal as a diet for for European soldiers is a new idea suggested by John E. Pryor of Hanford, known as the alfalfa king of Kings county. Pryor is a former Assemblyman from the Sixty-second District. The Hanford alfalfa king believes that alfalfa meal would add to the fighting qualities of the soldiers.

"I look for a long war in Europe," Pryor has stated. "The hardback, canned beef and other foodstuffs now in use probably will become exhausted and then there will be a big demand for alfalfa meal for the fighters."

"Experiments have demonstrated that the meal is a desirable food for humans. It not only appears the hunger but is strengthening. It adds materially to the fighting qualities of men and can be molded into form convenient for transportation on battle fields."

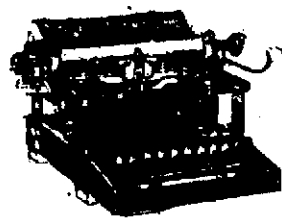

Pryor, who is a retired newspaper editor, is now in Los Angeles for a short business visit. He was one of the editors of the Moon, a Paso Robles paper, published 23 years ago. George A. Taylor was his partner in the newspaper business.

CANNERY PLANT MAY BE BUILT IN DINUBA

Meeting Is Held to Discuss Co-Operative Project; News Happenings

DINUBA, Sept. 1.—Vernon Campbell, of Porterville, the man who successfully promoted the co-operative cannery at that place, and who has announced that he would turn his own plant at Tulare into a co-operative concern, is in the city today in conference with business men and the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, with a view of locating a plant similar to the one at Porterville in Dinuba. At a meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce rooms this morning, Mr. Campbell made a short talk in which he explained the method followed in forming the co-operation at Porterville, and much other interesting information. The fruit handled by the canneries is largely of the free-trade variety, which find practically no sale in the fruit product. Apples, plums and tomatoes, will all be handled by the new project becomes a reality.

R. M. Henderson, for the past year, manager of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company's plant, at this point, severed his connection with that concern this morning, and will be in connection with the W. P. Day Hardware Co. Mr. Henderson is a live young business man and all his associates in business circles are glad to know that he will remain in Dinuba.

P. Nuss, living west of town, brought to the Chamber of Commerce rooms one day last week, a cluster of sweet potatoes, grown in one hill, weighing twelve pounds. They will be processed and placed on exhibit. These potatoes were grown between the rows of young pear trees, making a second crop. Mr. Nuss has quite a crop of sweet potatoes which he will sell to local stores at 2 cents per pound.

GASOLINE PLAYS BIG PART IN FOREIGN WAR

If Sources of Supply Are Cut Off America Will Be Sole Market

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 1.—Gasoline is playing an important part in the present European war, and if it continues indefinitely, many of the European sources of supply will be unavailable, and the American oil fields, principally those of California, will be the sole source of supply of oil for use as fuel and for motor vehicles.

In England, ordinary American refined petroleum is quoted at 14 1/2 cents and water white at 16 1/2 cents. Practically all stocks of fuel oil and grease-making oils have been taken off the English market by the war effort, and imports are barely enough to supply the demand.

Some gas oil is available at 13 cents a gallon in bulk at the wharf. The early gasoline panic has cleared off, and first quality is selling at near the usual price of 40 cents a gallon, with second quality 4 cents a gallon cheaper.

Mixtures of gasoline with paraffine are being used to a greater and greater extent in motor vehicles, with a big London omnibus company trying the experiment.

All fuel oils and products in Germany have been seized by the German government for war use. The oil industry there is practically unimportant, but Germany has an additional source of oil from her hydrocarbons. This gives her satisfaction in internal combustion engines of the heavy oil type and also burned under a boiler to raise steam.

However, Germany has to rely upon commerce for the most part for her oil, and may be hard put as the war progresses to obtain this commodity. It is off from Rumania and Galicia. Austria will put her oil supplies at Germany's disposal, and all transit from the Austrian fields is easy. Yet if Germany cuts off this source of supply, all of Germany's magnificent fleet of war automobiles will be useless to her, and her rapid advances thus far have been in a large measure due to her auto fleets equipped with well-oiled motors, downed barbed wire, fences and other obstructions.

Rumania was a great source of supply to Germany before the war. And if the Germans lose control of the Danube they lose out here also.

Fiery Blood Disorders Checker

The Source of Disease are Cleaned and Blood Purified

Those who have paid $5.00 marvel at the way it checks blood diseases. See a man today with his skin all broken out; see him again in a week or two after using S. S. S. and he is a man to be envied. A big smile replaces the frown. That is S. S. S. that can accomplish such wonderful results. First of all it is a natural medicine. Like milk, eggs and other foods that can not be limited, S. S. S. opens it to Nature for its power to overcome disease. Just as food prevents disease, S. S. S. is not a combination of prescription drugs. It is a preparation direct from medicinal plants that retain all the vital potency of what we need, what we must have in the blood to counteract those destructive tendencies that assail us throughout life. If it were not for our natural secretions to sustain us, aided by such known helps as S. S. S., there would be small chance of life for any of us.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. today from any drug store, but be careful to avoid the substitutes peddled off on the unwary. S. S. S. is prepared only by The Swift Specific Co., 53 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and for private medical advice write briefly your symptoms to their medical department. OIL SITUATION SHOWS DECIDED IMPROVEMENT

California Is Beginning to Export to Orient; Oil in Store Is 60,000,000

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 1.—The past two weeks have seen a decided clearing in the disturbed oil situation, not only in California but also in the East. The situation is more improved than any other part of the United States, possibly because it is greater removed from the seat of the conflict, and calmer to a different class of trade. Already Pacific Coast oil tankers have started the work of transporting oil to the Orient, and the risks are few, and shipping is comparatively safe.

The trouble is that South America and the Orient, to whom the oil is ordinarily sent, use this oil in manufacturing materials for Europe, and with their means shut off their plants are for the most part idle.

Of the 5,000,000 barrels of oil produced monthly in California, only about one-eighth is exported, the rest being used in this state and country. British Columbia and Ohio take most of the fuel oil exported to Japan and China the refined products.

The war alone would probably have had but little effect on the oil industry, but coming at a period when there was tremendous over-production, and this carried over many months, the effect was compounded. "The war" in the oil industry was forced in the self-defense to curb their purchases from members, all of them with the exception of the Associated, which, equipped with its own tankers under the American flag, continued its purchases and its deliveries.

Side oilfields were considerably affected early in the slump, but they have now cut down production and are not suffering greatly. Hundreds of men have been laid off by the Standard and others, and the knowledge that no new contracts are being made has caused a development work, except in the Lost Hills region. The Standard is curtailing its refining at Richmond and El Segundo also.

The capacity of these two plants and the one at the Kern river, held at 100,000 barrels a day, and this will probably cut down to 75,000 or less. Here again the war cannot be held responsible. It is the congested condition of the market which demands either a curtailment of refining processes, or else selling the product at a loss, and in August this month gasoline is selling at as low as eight cents a gallon.

Companies Lay Off Men

The Standard alone has laid off 500 men in the Kern county fields, and the Union about 100. The latter has greatly decreased its production in the Kern county fields, having discontinued running fifteen rigs of tools lately.

August figures will show the extent of this shutdown when they appear. In July, even, there were 300 less wells producing than in January. The number of wells being drilled was twenty less, and in August this number will be greater also. During August a half million barrels less than in July have been produced and September will show a decrease of 500,000 barrels, giving a production of about 8,000,000 barrels for this month.

August shipments will also show a decline. Of course, the San Joaquin valley, which has been the most active in recent development work, is the most keenly affected. Storage resources are taxed.

Eight Months Output on Hand

There are now 300,000 barrels of oil—nearly eight months of production—stored in California, and additional storage is hard to find. The Standard is now building tankage for 2,000,000 barrels more, and owns about half of that in storage. The Union Agency and the Associated has the bulk of the rest, with the General Petroleum Santa Fe and Dutch-Schol also figuring.

HENEY TO OPEN HIS SENATORIAL CAMPAIGN

Speaks at Bakersfield Tonight With Attorney Barclay McCowan

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 1.—Francis J. Heney, progressive candidate for United States senator, will open his campaign this morning (tomorrow) when he will speak at a meeting arranged by Barclay McCowan, to be held at the library entrance to the city hall. Heney, who won the nomination for the office at the primaries of his party August 25, will be opposed for election at the polls in November by Congressman Joseph R. Knowland on the Republican ticket, and by James D. Phelan on the Democratic ticket. McCowan will speak in the interest of his candidacy for district attorney of Kern county, running far ahead of Rowen Irwin, the other candidate, who also qualified for the finals.

JAP AT HANFORD DIES SUDDENLY

Post Mortem Reveals Brain Trouble; Hold Funeral of Week Victim; Brief News Happenings

HANFORD, Sept. 1.—Gosabura Shoji, a Japanese, was found lying face downward, dead in his bed at the Thos. Gordon ranch yesterday morning, by fellow workmen. The man had been engaged in picking grapes and complained of a feeling heavy in the head. He sat down and rested under a tree, and later went to the camp house, where he was later found lifeless. A post-mortem revealed that the cause of death was diseased brain.

Funeral services were held at 10 o'clock today for A. M. Creelman, who was killed in a railroad wreck at California, near Bakersfield, Friday. The service was by Rev. W. T. Howe, Miss Ethel Rice rendered two solos. Interment was in Orangeville cemetery.

Tony Ayala was arrested for appropriating a bottle of wine which P. Pappas had purchased as medicine for his sick wife. He was bound over in the sum of $50 for petit larceny.

Mrs. Frank Hammond and her little daughter were seriously hurt this morning when the horse they were driving became unmanageable and the two were thrown from the rig at a point just south of the city.

Miss Margaret White has returned to Los Angeles where she will resume her studies in music at the University of Southern California. She has been spending vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. White.

WOMAN WITNESS IN KERN DISAPPEARS

Was Mistress of a Rooming House in Follies Which Involved the Supervisors in Court Proceedings

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 1.—Nada Linton, mistress of a rooming house conducted at Follies by Morgan and Carlisle, and to have been tried in Justice Marion's court, has disappeared from Bakersfield and left her bondsmen to lose $300 bail money. She went to Los Angeles two weeks ago, and the last heard from her was that she was going to see her mother, who was ill. It is said she feared a grand jury indictment.

The Elite rooming house, which she is alleged to have run, is known by reputation all over the county. The good government people tried to get the supervisors to shut off the board, but refused to hear testimony, appealing to the Supreme court from a Superior court mandate ordering them to hear the case.

OIL EXPORTS WERE 5 PER CENT OF ALL PRODUCTS SENT OUT

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 1.—Some idea of the value of the oil industry to the United States may be learned from the fact that the oil exports form five per cent of the total value of the exports of this country. In the past few months, American oil exports have had a value of $500,000,000, and have aggregated $215,245,000 gallons.

Last year the daily average exports of oil were 6,250,000 gallons, worth approximately $415,000, giving the oil an average value of six and one-half cents a gallon.

Germany is the largest consumer of American oil, importing in 1913 225,000,000 gallons of illuminating oil, or 77 per cent of her total consumption. In 1912 the United Kingdom took 187,294,453 gallons of American illuminating oil, worth $2,500,000. Much American oil is exported from one country to another, making compilation of statistics difficult.

BLOODED CALF BRINGS $150

TULARE, Sept. 1.—King Marco Huguevold, a nine-month-old bull calf from the famous Sunnydale herd of American oil, is critically ill with typhoid fever and Miss May Blake, his sister, is suffering from the same disease. Little hope for the recovery of the former has been held out for several days.

IN-TO SOME EXTENT, GUSHERS HAVE PROVED INJURY

A gusher is a word to bring censure on the West Side, for the thirty or so of these that come in are responsible in a great measure for the over-production which has caused so much trouble. The Laketown No. 2, pouring out 50,000 barrels a day for many days, did its full share in bringing about the present result. Many of these gushers have been throttled down—they had to be, because their place in the oil and gas couldn't be sold.

LOAN REFUSED AUSTRIA

PARIS, Sept. 1, 6:30 p. m.—A Hava agency despatch from Zurich, Switzerland, says that the newspapers there are saying that the German government has refused Austria's request for a loan and that the bankers have taken a similar action.

WORKMEN OF VALLEY OBSERVE LABOR DAY WITH CELEBRATIONS

At BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 1.—Labor Day was celebrated here by the Kern County Labor and Building Trades Council, which held a program of speaking and sports at Recreation park. A band concert in the center of the city preceded this. In the evening a dance was held at Labor temple.

At MERCED, Sept. 1.—Merced's first Labor day celebration was held today, auspiciously by the Carpenters' union. A parade was held this morning, in which the carpenters, painters and musicians, all organized, participated. Tonight a dance will be given by the Carpenters' union.

At Hanford, Sept. 1.—With banks, stores and business houses closed, and employees permitted to celebrate Labor day as was their wont, the town resembled Sunday more than a holiday. Large delegations went to Fresno, and others went to the country with rod and gun.

Porterville High School, PORTERVILLE, Sept. 1.—High school opened this morning with 275 enrollments, slightly more than the highest mark for last year. It is anticipated that when the school work is well started, the increase will be considerable. Several changes have been made in the seating arrangements to accommodate the additional students. No count of the children has been possible as yet in the grammar grades but Suppt. Chas. E. Bingham states that there will be a large increase over last year. Seventeen pupils have enrolled in the new kindergarten for which a building has been fitted up in Main street.

San Joaquin Valley Schools Open Monday; Others Start Sept. 14

TAFEL, Sept. 1.—School opened auspiciously in the west side schools, there being nearly 500 in attendance in the five buildings in the Tafel district. In charge of the nine teachers, employed by the Tafel district, were called them together at an early hour for a preliminary reorganization.

At the main building, where the greater part of the enrollment is cared for, the ten teachers were all present when Superintendent Jack Hamilton called them together at an early hour for a preliminary reorganization.

Temporarily it has been found necessary to house the high school pupils in the main building because of the school which has been delayed in its completion. Contractor Cummins feels certain that the work will be completed and the building ready for occupancy by next Monday. It is not completed before October 7. Because of this school is to be held in the old North American building temporarily. Contractors Felter and Brown have asked an extension of ten days to complete the school. They may make up their shipments of lumber from the mills in the General Petroleum siding, thus overcoming the long haul with teams from the yards at Tafel.

At the primary building the four teachers were present. Under the guidance of Elsie F. Hadden, who is serving her second term as principal, the work of installing the classes went along smoothly. No work of importance was started on in the morning, the time being spent in organization, the kind of books and the preliminary instruction relative to the formation of lines.

Superintendent Hamilton is desirous that it be impressed upon the minds of all parents that children who will be 6 years of age before September 1, 1914, are eligible to enter school at the beginning of the term. All will be admitted during the first week, but there will be no entry period for those going into the receiving class at the opening of the New Year term.

WILBUR TO WITHDRAW FROM ASSEMBLY RACE

Progressive Nominee in Merced County Will Not Run Against Wagner

MERCED, Sept. 1.—A. H. Wilbur, who secured the Progressive nomination for assemblyman in the forty-ninth district in the write-in system, announced today that he would withdraw from the race and not be a candidate at the general election. Wilbur sought both the Progressive and Republican nominations. Wilbur's reason for withdrawing, according to a statement made by him today, are that he has not the inclination to spend the time and money in making a campaign, and furthermore that up until recently he was always a Republican and does not wish to oppose a Republican for office, although he favors Governor Johnson and the latter's policies and administration.

Gompertz, in which he was convicted of running his automobile on the wrong side of the state highway and was fined $30, with an alternative of 15 days' imprisonment, has been appealed by his attorney, Henry A. L. Welch, on the ground that the judgment did not conform to the law, which fixes a maximum of 30 days imprisonment for the first offense. Gompertz is a long range containing Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hobbler, the latter being thrown out and seriously injured.

SELMANS WILL HOLD ANTI-WAR GATHERING

W. T. Mills Will Speak in Protest Against Present War in Europe

SELMAS, Sept. 1.—A mass meeting will be held in Selma Wednesday, September 3, at 8 p. m. to protest against the European war.

Prof. Walter Thomas Mills will speak. Prof. Mills is an orator of worldwide reputation. Frances Willard said of him: "Mills knows whereof he affirms; he is a notable affirmer and he has a vocabulary." The New Zealand Times says: "His equal has never before been heard of any platform in New Zealand." Debs says: "He is not to be excelled by any orator in the world."

Tremendous mass meetings to protest against the infamous war in Europe are being held all over the country from New York to San Francisco. Every hamlet and village should fall in line and help prove that the people of the United States are sincere in advocating peace. Think of the sweet mother's smiles and sweethearts bereaved of their loved ones; think of the children bereaved of their supporters by this frightful, iniquitous war. In the footsteps of war follow famine and often pestilence. Even though we may keep our own beloved country out of the conflict, the famine and pestilence are sure to reach us unless we act and act quickly. It is to be hoped that every man, woman and child will help in protesting against this twentieth century outrage.

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—An executive meeting of the national baseball commission here today of which was made public, was led to a rumor that terms of peace with the Federal league were under consideration. August Herrmann, of Cincinnati, chairman of the commission, said a few minor difficulties in various leagues were settled, but aside from the one, statement was silent.

A baseball man who attended the meeting asserted that the National and American leagues are well fortified financially to continue the expensive competition with the Federal league but that several of the minor league clubs were anxious for peace. He said there was seemingly a hesitancy among the major leagues and the outland league making the first overtures.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—Los Angeles and San Francisco did not change their relative positions in the club standings of the Pacific Coast league today, the two teams dividing the holiday double-header. The series, however, was San Francisco's.

The Angels had better of the forenoon argument in Oakland by a 5 to 0 score and it looked as though they would deliver again in the afternoon up to the last stages.

In the eighth the Seals staged a batting rally that netted them seven runs out of six hits and gave them a lead of six runs. Los Angeles managed to put one more wrong in the last stanza, so that the final score stood 8 to 3 for the home team.

Love, who had pitched against Fanning, had delivered the right kind of ball up to the final inning. Score:

PART OF KANSAS CITY
INUNDATED BY CREEK

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 7.—Two hundred families were driven from their homes and twelve houses were swept away today when Turkey Creek, a drainage stream, because of an all night rain, ran over its banks and inundated a large residence section and the main business district of Hensdale, Kansas, a suburb.

Three feet of water stood this morning in the Rosedale city hall. In other parts of the business district the water reached six feet. No lives were lost.

In the southern section of Kansas City, Bush Creek, a small stream, overflowed its banks, submerged the lower residence districts along Forty-eighth street and surrounded two hundred residences.

The creek also extended its bounds to the Federal league baseball park where the club house was demolished and all the uniforms, bats and other equipment used by the club were lost. Manager Stival of the club said today the team would leave tonight for its final road trip without any equipment. He wired today for new uniforms and supplies.

MAYOR SNOW DISCUSSES NEEDS OF FRESNO AS MODERN CITY

Places Garbage Incinerator First on List of Six Propositions—To Motorize Fire Apparatus and Extend Daily Street Sweeping Area

A city owned and operated incinerator plant to dispose of the garbage and rubbish.
A fire department equipped throughout with motorized apparatus and additional fire houses for the protection of outlying territory.
Machining sweeping of a larger area of the public streets.
Electroliner system for the lighting of the downtown district.
Enlargement of the septic tank plant at the sewer farm.
Ambulance-partial wagon for the police department.

The above are six essential needs of the city that Mayor Snow has in mind, and which he says the administration will strive to realize in part during the forthcoming fiscal year, or before the close of the administration, depending, as in the case of the incinerator, upon a bond issue because the cost would be too great to attempt its installation out of the regular revenues, limited as the city is in tax raising powers.

Incinerator a Necessity.
Mayor Snow lists the essentials in the above order for importance, declaring that the incinerator is "a crying necessity," and so urgent as to be demanded even by present time conditions.

Inasmuch as whenever such a plant is installed, the future must be looked out for to keep pace with the growth of the city, Mayor Snow said he would not like to enter upon the proposition without considering an original outlay of $50,000, which would be out of all consideration if raised out of the city's revenue. He hoped before the close of his administration to have the fire apparatus motorized throughout, and with that object accomplished, also have the fire protected area extended with the building of firehouses in the new territory that has come in and is coming in.

"I have in mind, aside from the electroliner system which I expect to see in operation next spring several notable public improvements," said Mayor Snow yesterday. "The aim will be to make Fresno one of the cleanest and neatest cities in the United States. The essentials that I have enumerated may not all be realized during my term of office, but some of them will be even during the forthcoming fiscal year, or at least we will have made good start on the campaign of education. The incinerator is a crying necessity at the present time.

For Cleaner City.
"I have aside from the electroliner system to see the incinerator established as the first step in a cleaner and neater city. The time is here when we must have a change, because there is now too much garbage in back yards to dispose of according to the present system of collection. The fact is that the Board of Health has called attention to the matter, and many residents are complaining that under the present system of collection by scavengers with insufficient services they are compelled to bury or burn garbage and rubbish in their back yards.

"I hope to be able to establish before yet another spring an incinerator of sufficient capacity to take care of the situation and to handle it for 10 or 15 years to come, having in mind the rapid growth of the city, because in establishing such things we must look to future needs at the same time. I would not spend on such a plant less than $50,000, and this would mean a bond issue. I think the city is ready to undertake the trial.

"Under the plan that I have been looking up the city would do its own garbage collecting by auto wagons and dispose of the rubbish by fire. I think if the city goes into this business, it can furnish the service cheaper than it is done at present, with more satisfaction and keep the city cleaner than it has been. I would not make this a money making enterprise and the city, but to fix a rate based on the actual cost of the expense of the garbage collecting and giving the residents the benefit of the cheaper rate. The plan has yet to be worked out in its details, although I have stacks of literature upon the subject.

Motorize Apparatus.
"I am in hope that the city government would be able to work out a plan of motorizing all apparatus in the fire department and relocating some of the engine houses and perhaps erect one or two new ones to properly protect portions of the city that have newly come into the city or are coming in from the west. The motorizing of the apparatus I expect to see done this fiscal year, and all new apparatus that may be bought will also have to be motor drawn.

"The motorizing of the apparatus means a great saving in the expense of hiring horses and men to do the other things, besides in the construction of new engine houses in the lesser cost of building on smaller sites because of the saved room for horses and stalls and for feed storage."

To Sell Engine Property.
The contemplated change in the equipment and expansion of the fire department involves also a proposition which has been suggested on a previous agitation of the subject. This is the possible sale of the engine house on J street, which has too great a value for fire purposes and for the fair market value of which at least two cheaper sites can be bought, with money enough left over on the sale price to help pay for fully equipped motorized apparatus in the new houses.

"I have under serious consideration, but still in the tentative stage," continued the mayor, "a proposition for the city to undertake through the street

ANNIVERSARY OF STAR SPANGLED BANNER SUNDAY

The American flag will flutter from the mast of the Fresno Federal building next Sunday and it has been suggested that the national colors be hoisted from all other buildings in Fresno in celebration of the anniversary of the birth of "The Star Spangled Banner."

The flag will fly Sunday from every Federal building, army post, naval station and ship controlled by the United States in every part of the world. At noon Sunday an official salute to the flag will be fired in Washington.

This recognition of the writing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by Francis Scott Key, has been brought about by the management of a Star Spangled Banner celebration which started in Baltimore Sunday and will continue for a week.

department the sweeping of the paved streets. This does not mean to abandon the downtown hand sweeping, but rather to extend that service. My idea is for the city to take over the sweeping of the streets not with horse-drawn machines, but motor operated apparatus, as in some eastern cities. I have reason to believe that such a plan will save expense to the city by eliminating the profit to the contractor, do faster work and sweep more streets often than are now covered nightly.

Double Septic Tank.
"To efficiently handle and dispose of the sewerage of the city the septic tank at the sewer farm should be doubled. The time for doubling that capacity is now or very soon. That is another matter that will have to be handled through a bond issue. Arlington Heights, Hazelwood and the other annexed territory will be demanding sewer facilities, and your septic tank is taxed how to capacity. There is also involved the problem of making connections for those territories with the existing sewer system, and Arlington Heights as the most thickly populated section that will demand sewer facilities first, will face a problem that will make them wish they had voted for annexation when Belmont addition did, for it has its main outfall to sewer farm connections.

"During the present fiscal year the police department will be provided with a combination ambulance and patrol wagon. This is a demand which has long been felt, but which the revenue of the city prevented.

Control of Utilities.
"The above are some of the things that are most urgently needed, not saying that there are not other municipal improvements that this growing city should have. The administration will strive for these things, not suggesting that all the things needed cannot be had at one time and that the demand for them has been created by the growth of the city, while the increase in public revenue has not kept a corresponding pace. The transfer of the public utilities to the state board of railroad commissioners will be voted upon at an early date. It has been delayed until we could submit it with the several annexation propositions at one special election in the city as a purely economical problem. Every special election in the city costs from $1200 to $1500. I take it that if the people vote to make such transfer the benefit will be in possibly cheaper rates and an improved service.

Parks and Playgrounds.
"The administration is with the park and playground movements and would help it out financially to a greater extent than it has, but it must go slow when so many other demands are made upon it. The park commission has an ambitious plan to complete Reading park in first class condition. To carry it out in all the details would also mean a bond issue, the figure of which has been named as high as $50,000. But it is also of the opinion that the living should enjoy the benefits of the park as much as those coming hereafter, and so this bond issue has for the present been put aside and the commission will work by degrees to accomplish the desired end, with the objective feature a new water distributing system to reach every part of the park. With so many things demanded by the growth of the city, the administration hopes to be able to make a showing at least in having furnished the essentials."

FIVE PARTY CENTRAL COMMITTEES TO MEET TODAY

Will Organize and Elect Delegates to State Convention

Vacancies on County Bodies Must Also Be Filled

COUNTY CENTRAL COMMITTEES THAT WILL MEET TODAY

Prohibitionists, 1:30 o'clock at Union hall.
Democrats, 2 o'clock in Judge Church's court room.
Socialists, 2 o'clock in grand jury room.
Progressives, 3 o'clock in Judge Austin's court room.
Republicans, 4 o'clock at M. W. Muller's office.

Campaigns which are to materialize within the next two years will be conducted by the county central committees of five political parties, which will meet in convention today for the purpose of organizing and electing delegates to the state conventions. During organization they will also fill vacancies on their own committees caused by the failure to elect committee men at the primary election just past.

The Republican County Central Committee will meet at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the offices of M. W. Muller in the Forsyth building. It will be necessary for the committee to appoint delegates to the state convention from the fifth assembly district and the twenty-sixth senatorial district. Inasmuch as he won both the Republican and Progressive nominations in the fifty-second assembly district, L. B. Curry is entitled to have a seat in the Republican and Progressive state conventions.

At the Progressive County Central Committee meeting, which will be held at 3 o'clock in Judge Austin's court room, it will not be necessary to appoint delegates to the state convention, as all representatives were duly elected. The Democrats, who meet at 2 o'clock in Judge Church's court room in the county house, will not have to name delegates to the state convention, as they also elected their men.

The Prohibitionist County Central Committee is scheduled to meet at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon at Union hall for the purpose of formally organizing. Later there will be a meeting in the office of the district attorney. They must elect delegates from the fifth and fifty-second assembly districts. The names of their nominees in these districts having been written in at the primary election.

The meeting hour of the Socialists is 2:30 o'clock and the place the grand jury room. They will be required to elect delegates to the state convention from the fifty-first and fifty-second assembly districts.

In supervisory districts the Republicans have to elect a delegate from the fourth, four having been elected at the primary, whereas five are allowed. A vacancy in the second supervisory district must be filled by the Democrats, as they elected only one when entitled to six. G. E. Lewis was a candidate in the second supervisory district, but no returns were recorded for him.

The Progressives lack one delegate in the fifth district. They placed five candidates on the ballot in the fourth district, when they were entitled to only four.

The Socialists fell far short of the required number, electing only eleven out of twenty-three. They must fill two vacancies in the first district, two in the second, six in the fourth and two in the fifth.

Nine delegates from supervisory districts must be elected by the Prohibitionists. Their vacancies are the first, four in the second, four in the third and two in the fifth. Delegates entitled to meeting with the various county central committees today by reason of their election at the primary are as follows:
